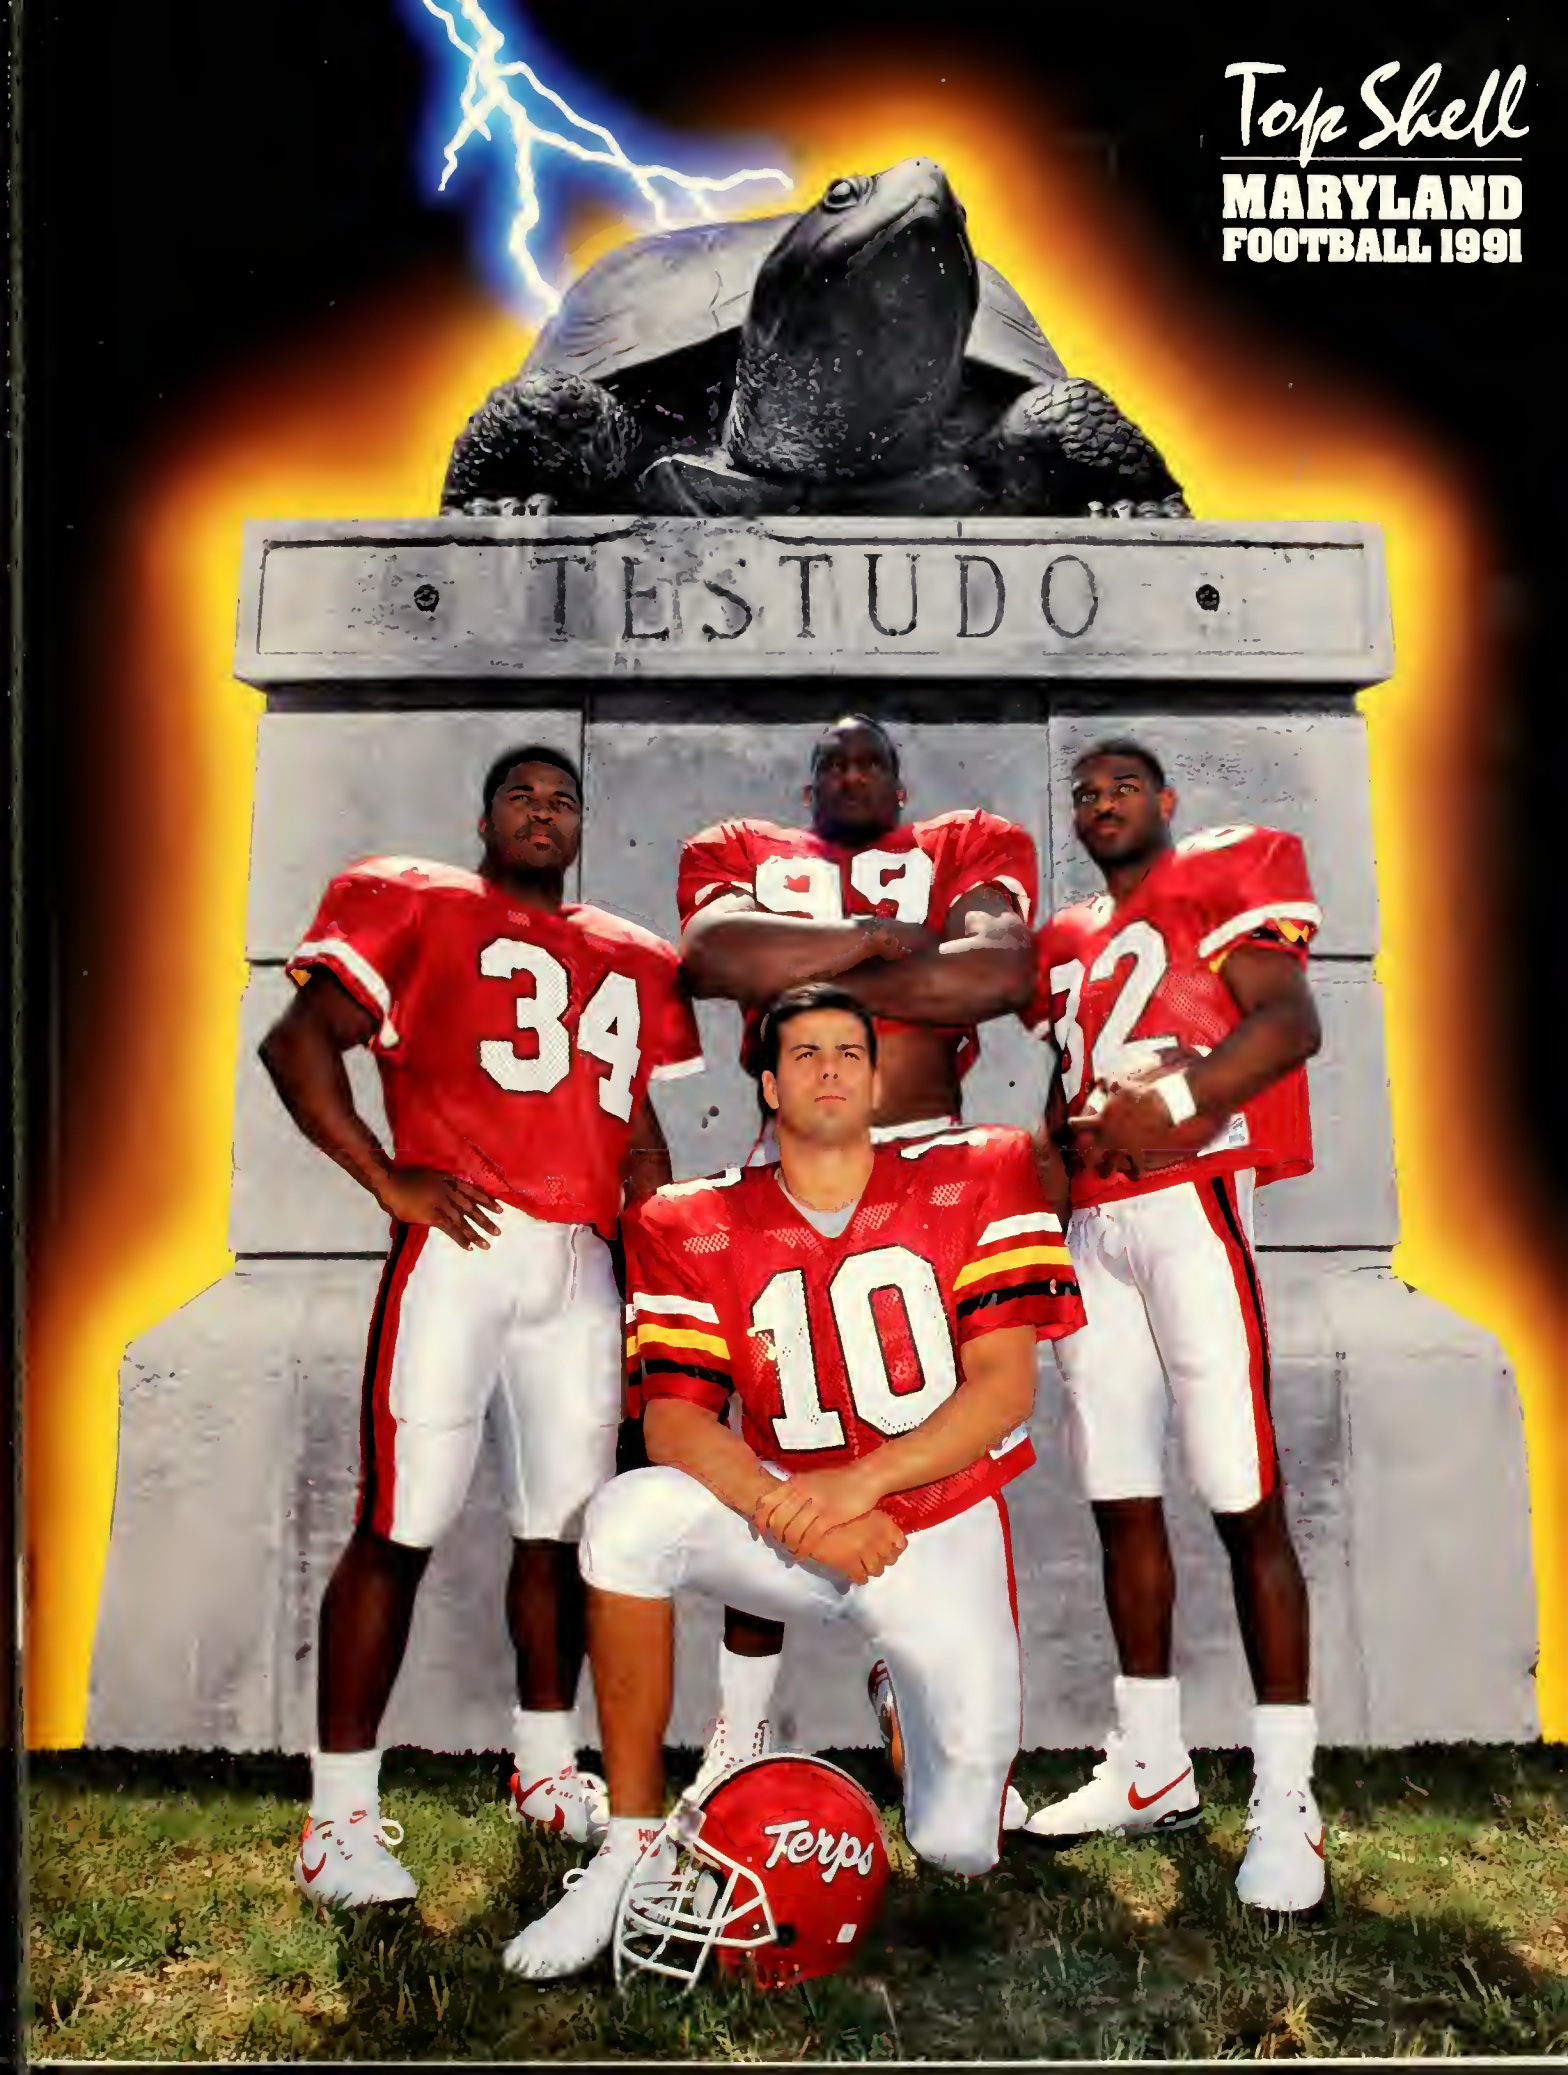
MARYLAND FOOTBALL 1991



Where's Testudo?

He's sitting in on strategy meetings with Joe Krivak. He's helping refurbish Byrd Stadium. He's taping ankles, driving tractors, pumping big iron. He's selling family memorabilia.

Testudo wants more of 1990—with its bowl appearance, winning record, and big victories—in 1991. Testudo is up for Maryland football. And why not?

He reigned at Byrd Stadium when Maryland won its national championship in 1953, a regal bronze guardian of the new stadium gates. He watched early Atlantic Coast Conference championship seasons before being moved to the front of McKeldin Library in the early 1960s. Fans in the 1970s were introduced to a costumed Testudo who moved and led cheers, as opposed to the original version who moved only when rivals stole him. Thanks to the new guise, he went to many a bowl, and watched goalposts torn down to celebrate singular moments recorded by teams bearing the family name.

He's one of a kind—no other school fields a Terp. His considerable legend serves as the preamble to this year's football season.

Tale of the Top Shell

Testudo is a Diamondback turtle. Like some other famous personages born into the Depression of the 1930s, the derivation of his name is cloudy. But it is likely that his monicker is derived from the scientific classification for turtle (testudines). Or the top turtle could be named after testudo gigantia, a species native to the African island nation of Seychelles and one of its remotest islands, Aldabra. This explanation is a long way from the Chesapeake Bay where the Diamondback lives.

When Testudo had his coming out on May 23, 1933, he was thrown into a world filled with intimadating mascots —Wildcats, Tigers, Devils, Wolves, Bears, thought up over a half-century of intercollegiate competiton. Maryland College Park was consolidated from different state schols in 1920 to form the base of today's wide-ranging state system, and the remodeled Maryland State College needed a flag-carrier to do battle with Wahoos, Lions and Generals.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, a football coach who later became University President, recommended the Diamondback as mascot in 1932 in response to the student newspaper's search for an "official" leader. Byrd's childhood in Crisfield, Md., apparently included skirmishes with this brand of snapping turtle, indigenous to the Bay. The school paper was in fact already called The Diamondback, and when the Class of 1933 stepped forward with the idea of giving the University a permanent bronzed version as its graduation gift, Testudo's family was in to stay.

Maryland had been referring to itself as Old-Liners, yet another name whose derivation no one seems sure of. Historians are in a scrimmage over whether the nickname is a reference to a Revolutionary War troop of Maryland soldiers who distinguished themselves on the field of battle, or they feel it could refer to a squabble with Pennsylvanians over just where the border between the two states should be.

The Class of '33 raised money for casting a Diamondback by holding its Senior Prom on campus. And the yearbook and Student Government Association chipped-in. Edwin C. Mayo, Class of '04 and a former quarterback, donated at cost the 300 pound bronzed beauty as President of Gorham Manufacturing in Providence, RI. Robert J. Hill cast the inspired sculpture accomplished by company artist Aristide Cianfrani. Further turtleization came when the student yearbook, The Reveille, became The Terrapin in 1935. Newspapers, even then exploring every angle, shortened Terrapin to Terp for headline writing ease when it wasn't trying to cram Old Liner into a single column head. The name was in place; now came the stuff of legend.

The Stuff of Legend

The nicely thought out plans that made Testudo an instant hit did have a flaw. Putting Mr. T in front of the campus gym, Ritchie Coliseum, exposed Testudo to every road agent wearing enemy colors. Ritchie is right on U.S. 1, then the principal North-South highway along the Eastern seaboard. When a less dignified opponent needed something extra against the turtle and his troops they practiced emotional blackmail,and kidnapped him.

That was not the worst of it. They painted his golden skin enemy colors, and defaced his pedestal which was only to have the block M on it. Instead, opponents painted block JH's or GW's or V's or NC's on his nest. A riot took place when Johns Hopkins kidnapped the handsome reptile in 1947; 200 police were called to the Baltimore campus to control the justified anger of wronged College Park students. Two years later, the nifty shelled crusader was found on the lawn of a Virginia fraternity house, whose occupants smugly called President Byrd with the message to get Testudo off their lawn. Of course Byrd obliged, and soon after Testudo was hidden in the campus carpentry shop where he was less inspirational, but a whole lot safer.

The stadium bearing Byrd's name was built in 1950, and in 1951 Testudo, sans coats of rivals' paint, took his perch in front of the Byrd Stadium football team house. He had beaten back all who would wrong him, and to make sure that he would not travel again, he was fed 700 pounds of cement and had his body attached to a new pedestal by long steel rods.

With his permanent nesting came success for Maryland. Acting as guardian to waves of Terp competitors, 1933: Testudo is dedicated on May 23. Dr. H.C. (Curly) Byrd is on the left, Ralph Williams, Student Government President, is at right in uniform, and in the foreground is the real Testudo, who served as model. 1947: Incredulity (posed) marks the faces of Maryland men gathered round the campus shrine where Testudo was supposed to be. Stolen more than a dozen times, the regal symbol was removed from its U.S. 1 locale forever in 1949. 1991: Testudo and Testudo in front of McKeldin Library. (Top right) joe f. blair looks for Testudo.

the national championship came, as did several ACC titles in the 1950s. His popularity among the students might have been the undoing of success, however. When McKeldin Libary was constructed in the middle of campus, the student body demanded Testudo's fulltime presence in the center of day-to-day activities; Testudo had gone far beyond being just a symbol for athletics. He was a campus symbol. Students carefully carried him up the hill to the main College Green and the library, and he was bolted to a new bed of stone in the early 1960s.

Coincidence or not, football did have a downturn in the 1960s with Testudo absent. In the 1970s, when a costumed Testudo started to roam the sideline, success was returning. Testudo reigned over unrivaled ACC football prowess, and sent Terps out to the four corners of the football world for bowls and intersectional clashes.

Fifty-eight years ago, the Diamondback Turtle Gorham used as a model for the shelled wonder had a ribbon attached to it at the dedication. The ribbon was tied to the canvas covering the statue. The Diamondback moved forward, and revealed the splendor of his larger brother. But no one rushed the smaller Diamondback. All in attendance were true believers who knew what so many unfaithful have discovered about Terrapins. They bite.

Welcome to Byrd

Wooden walls and the intimacy born of putting five bodies in the space of four seats are out.

Willamsburg brick walls and wide open media space are in. Welcome to the new Byrd Box, and to the third and fourth floors from where the media will view the 1991 Terps.

State-of-the-Art media facilities are joined with the old fashioned hospitality of a legend, joe f. blair, who dispenses statistics and Maryland Crab Soup par excellence. Our appearance has changed, but blair-inspired sports information hospitality has not.

Looking down from the high rise perspective of the media perch it is easy to view the renovated concrete bowl of the 41 year old stadium, and the new seating. A team effort was employed to accomplish the renovation; witness himself, The Turtle, wielding a drill on page five.

The Byrd makeover, and construction of the new football team house in the east end zone, comes just in time. This is the 99th edition of the Terps; the 100th year will see even more commitment to making Maryland facilities top shell.

Before your pilgrimage

Credentials should be ordered from the sports information office at least two weeks before you board our new press box elevators. Requests may be mailed to us on letterhead, but an increasingly large number of media have discovered that it is actually cheaper to FAX a request than mail it, and certainly more efficient. Only working press will be admitted to the Byrd Box, which in its refurbished state is likely to be a popular target of the uninvited.

The toughest press seat will not be at Byrd, but in the wooden, intimate confines of Baltimore's Memorial Stadium where the Terps clash with Penn State. Early requests for that game are advisable.

Pre-game interviews with student-athletes may be arranged through joe blair, Herb Hartnett, Ivan Meltzer, or Chuck Walsh. They need 24 hours advance notice to arrange an interview, which is best accomplished in-person around daily practices. Student-athletes will return phone calls when requested; their phone numbers will not be distributed.

Coach Krivak may be interviewed by telephone regarding next week's game on Sunday afternoons (approximately 3:30 to 5 p.m.) in his office (301-314-7096). He is available for in-person interviews before and during his Tuesday Noon Press Luncheons that will be held under the glass of the second floor mezzanine of the new press box. He also makes himself available before and after daily practices. On Wednesdays he may be heard as part of the ACC Football Teleconference, which begins at 11:00 a.m. with each league coach speaking for 10 minutes.

On Thursdays, or during working hours before practice on any weekday, Krivak's dynamo secretary, Linda Kubany will attempt to connect head coach and reporter. The best time to contact him is from Noon to 1:30 p.m.

Coach Krivak requests that the media do not interview student-athletes between team meetings at any time. On Fridays the best time to interview Krivak is after the short practice that occurs the day before a game.

Recorded interviews with Coach Krivak are available through the Media Relations Coordinator for Radio and TV at College Park, John Wagner. He hosts Krivak beginning at 5 p.m. on Tuesdays with up to six actualities that run from 20 to 30 seconds each. The numbers are 1-800-523-7234 (in-state) and 301-779-6397 (out of state).

Terrapin Game Day

Working press and photo credentials will be mailed when requested, if possible. Will call for credentials is at Window Six, which sits right in front of the new Byrd Box. At Memorial Stadium, Gate E-1 at the front of the stadium is the Will Call Window.

Press parking passes are honored in the parking garage next to Cole Field House, which is across the street from the Byrd Box. At Memorial Stadium, press parking is close to Section E-8 where the elevator to the press box is located.

The press box at Byrd is located at the top of the south stands and print media are located on the third floor level, the electronic media on the fourth level. Memorial Stadium's press box is on the facing of the leftfield upper deck, and its photo box runs along the front of the booth where there is usually not enough space for the numbers of video cameras. First-come, first-served here.

Photographers will be issued arm bands at midfield behind the Maryland bench before the game. A sports information coordinator will be on the field with flips and some food at halftime. No one is allowed in the stadium, including photographers, with an umbrella.

There are telephones available to the media to transmit stories throughout press row. Anyone wishing to order their own phone should contact the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland (301-852-4540).

Food service is available for the media on the third level of the Byrd Box. The University Dining Service, led by Matt Sheriff and Jim Allenchey, serve such fine cuisine that a special pass is necessary at get at it. Meal tickets are at the bottom of each media pass. Full food service will be available for an hour-and-a-half before kickoff.

Game Day Reprise

Complete statistics will be distributed, enough to satisfy lovers of drive charts and football minutiae. Quotations from both coaches will be duplicated for those unable to be in two places at once.

Post-game stats are forwarded free of charge on a FAX machine. Post-game interviews for Maryland are held in the Football Team Building classroom. Visiting coaches and players are provided space for interviews in the track office in the northeast corner of the Byrd Complex.

A wrap-up of the game may be heard on the Terphone (301-314-TERP).

Video of the game, as well as a preview of next week's opponent, are available on the Atlantic Coast Conference Satellite Football Highlights Show. All nine league schools will have segments available from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Wednesday (Westar 5, 9D (Channel 17); Transponder Audio 6.2 & 6.8.

Directions to Byrd Stadium and near-by hotels are listed on the inside back cover.

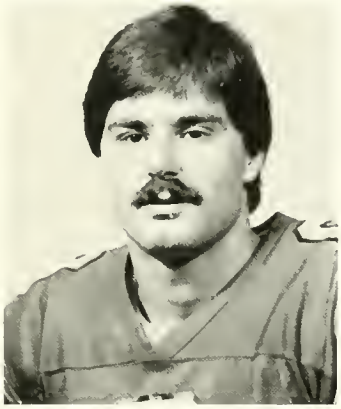
Stan Jones became the first Terp selected to the National Football League Hall of Fame in 1991 after an All-Pro career with the Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins.



Another Terp quarterback starred in 1991 as Stan Gelbaugh was named the Player-of-the-Year in the World League of American Football.

The Maryland Football Press Guide was designed by Herb Hartnett and Dave Pfeiffer, from a concept by Charlie Guillette. A new Byrd

Born in 1950, Byrd Stadium is being reborn in the 1990s.

* The concrete bowl, erected on the wetlands of an orchard, had decades of water damage repaired above and below its surface since the last home football game of Oct. 13, 1990. The 10 miles of redwood plank seats that held millions were replaced by environmentally less costly aluminum benches.

* The old concession stands on the south side, a slice of stadium architecture sentimentally pleasing to those who remember their first visit to a football game, but prone to long lines on hot days, are now state-of-the-art palate pleasers designed for efficient service. Expanded, new rest rooms defeat the antiquated building codes of four decades ago that produced inadequate women's facilities. The stadium's first formal entranceway has been constructed just off of Stadium Drive with five bricked portals framing a new-look stadium.

* Just beyond the new gateway is a newly paved promenade located at street level. It leads to the rim of the bowl where a new five tier, 90-foot high, 152-foot long, mostly-enclosed structure is perched to provide the best in Byrd watching.

The first level contains entrances at both ends for two elevators that service the building; sitting between these support areas are 400 exterior luxury seats. Occupants will enjoy the electric air of the crowd, but inherit the benefits of heated seating and an awning to ward off inclement weather.

The second level contains three suites, one that seats 90 in the middle of the level; a terrace overlooking the new south gate; and kitchen facilities. The terrace will be used for weekly football press luncheons and athletic department functions.

The third level is the working press area. It has a photographer's dark room, statistics booth, seating for 150 media, and food preparation facilities.

The fourth contains four booths that house a mix of television and radio play-by-play personnel , game management and invited guests. Television trucks have a new parking pad, cables now plug into the exterior wall of the Byrd Box; there is no need to pull cable to the booths high above.

The fifth level is a photo deck that has on its exterior a representation of the ubiquitous Testudo looking down on the field of play. He will witness key Byrd events once more, as he did when the stadium opened four decades ago. A nine-foot-high Testudo also overlooks the new south entranceway.

These five Top Terp Tiers give Maryland loyalists a chance to contribute to the construction and refurbishment of Byrd, and to watch the game from special quarters. The tiers form a Terpromontory looking down on a sea of perfect Bermuda grass, and the exploits not only of football, but Maryland lacrosse as well.

The new Byrd Box, concession stands, rest rooms, and stadium portals, designed by H-O-K Architects of Kansas City, are enclosed in sand-moulded Calvert # 103 brick that matches the Williamsburg-style brick used on most of College Park's 335 buildings. The brick gives the contemporary architecture a timeless veneer, and unity with College Park's traditional Georgian look.

The Maryland Partnership

The $15 million dollar Phase I of Byrd's refurbishment will be followed in the future by the construction of a new football team house in the east end zone, and new concession stands and rest rooms in the west and north ends of the stadium. Beyond are the refurbishment of Cole Field House, the doubledecking of Byrd's north side, and an indoor football practice facility. The $68 million project also includes new fields and stadiums for most sports and a natatorium.

Maryland's architectural athletic revival is funded by the Maryland Partnership, a matching-gift program between the state and friends of Maryland Athletics.

The historic Byrd

Byrd Stadium has been home to national championship football and lacrosse teams, and to 56 Atlantic Coast Conference Track and Field team champions. It hosted the Queen of England at a football game in 1957, and was the stage where the greatest high hurdler in history, Renaldo Nehemiah, performed his wonders. NCAA Champions in men's and women's lacrosse have been held there, and in May 1989 every attendance record for the sport was broken when over 44,000 watched the Final Four of men's lacrosse. Many of the great moments in Maryland prep school history happened there, as well as the Special Olympics and the Maryland State Games. Byrd Stadium is a Maryland tradition for the high school football coaches of the state who regularly hold their coaching clinic at College Park.

The stadium is named after Dr. H.C. Byrd, who was a multi-sport athlete as an undergraduate, later the head football coach and later still the Maryland president. His vision gave College Park preminence among Eastern campus sports facilities for decades, and the impetus for the Terrapin to win more ACC championships than any league school. The stadium was part of the enormous post-World War II expansion of the University overseen by Byrd and Dr. Wilson Elkins.

In 1991, the stadium will have 41,000 seats, including all-new seating at the southeast corner. The bleachers that formerly sat along the rim at the top of the south side have been removed because of the new Byrd Box, concession stands and rest rooms. (The announced record crowd for Byrd is 58,973 fans, who gave new meaning to the word "sqeezed" on Nov. 1, 1975 when Penn State visited.)

When built 41 years ago, the stadium was thought then to be in a "first phase." Plans called for the eventual seating of 92,000 and the double-decking of the entire stadium. No such plans exist today, but when the Maryland Partnership blueprints become reality, Byrd's capacity will be 49,000.

The Top Shell Pushes Hard for the 1991 Season

The Shelled Crusader takes no chances. He's wielding his drill, stepping-into a construction buggy, encouraging his troops, mixing with the men, shoveling gravel, and holding on as another truck rolls into Byrd Stadium with more goodies for Byrd refurbishment.

Mr. T (The Bronzed One) can been seen (with the help of an arrow) in this early 1950s photo of Byrd, guarding the newly contoured grounds. Note in artist's schematic done before construction that a hedge was to be placed where Testudo was to live. Imagine a hedge guarding Byrd!

Colors

The colors of the University of Maryland are those of the state flag—gold, red, black and white.

Maryland's flag bears the arms of the Calvert and Crossland families. Calvert was the family name of the Lords Baltimore who founded Maryland, and their colors of gold and black appear in the first and fourth quarters of the flag. Crossland was the family of the mother of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore. The red and white Crossland colors, with a Greek cross terminating in the foils, appears in the second and third quarters. The flag was first flown in its present form October 25, 1888, at Gettysburg Battlefield for ceremonies dedicating monuments to Maryland regiments of the Army of the Potomac. It was officially adopted in 1904. Maryland law requires that if any ornament is affixed to the top of a flagstaff carrying the Maryland flag, the ornament must be a gold cross bottony.

Like the long trek of Testudo to become mascot, the trip for these colors to arrive as "official" was marked by factionalism. And no wonder: Maryland played football under three names in its first 24 years. From 1897 to 1915, the school was the Maryland Agriculture College "Farmers"; from 1916 to 1920 the school was named the Maryland State "Old Liners"; and starting in 1921 the school competed as the University of Maryland at College Park, but still boasting the "Old Liner" nickname. The colors during those years changed also: from 1897 to 1915 black and gold, or white with black and gold trim were the norm; from 1912 to 1935 with Curley Byrd in charge, any color in the state flag was deemed official although black and gold predominated; from 1943 to 1945, Football Coach Clark Shaughnessy, who arrived from Stanford, deemed red and white the official colors; and after a 1946 spent in black and gold that made players' numbers illegible, red and white became the predominant colors under Jim Tatum.

For the past 45 years, red and white have been mixed with black and gold for a distinctive College Park look. For the first time in 1990, Maryland's away football uniforms had the state flag prominately displayed on the upper sleeve; in 1991, the home uniform will be equipped with the flag that supplies the school colors.

Football in College Park

Football was recognized as an official school athletic function in 1892 when Maryland in College Park was the Maryland Agricultural College. It was played as early as 1889 in an era of informality, 33 years after the Agricultural College's founding.

The following excerpt from A History of the University of Maryland concerns these times before the University in Baltimore and College Park were consolidated to form the present state system. It is written from the perspective of the University in Baltimore. "Intercollegiate athletics has facilitated the development of many academic institutions, and at Maryland the new spirit was expressed in a football yell. In 1895 a medical school student named Norfleet Gibbs organized a medical-dental-law school football team that defeated Baltimore City college twice and lost to St. John's. The uniforms were a motley array of padded clothes with the letter M painted on the shirts, but the players were immediately heroes, and for the first time the students in the various schools felt a sense of unity. Students and faculty formed an athletic association; the professors paid for real uniforms; teams of baseball, ice hockey, track and basketball appeared; and friends of the University began reading about the institution in newspaper sports pages. Since many of the University players were much older than regular college students, there was difficulty finding opponents at first; but the University's approximately even won-lost record soon attracted such schools as the Maryland Agricultural College, St. John's, Navy, Georgetown and, occasionally, such distant schools as Rutgers and North Carolina. The greatest sports rival was Johns Hopkins, and contests with it in any sport attracted throngs of students, faculty and alumni. Freshmen received a pamphlet of University cheers to memorize, and frequently faculty members led the cheers: "Rif! Raf! Ruf! —Rif! Raf! Ruf!—University of Maryland!—Pretty Hot stuff!!!"

The cheer is no longer used.

The Agricultural College was named Maryland State College in 1916, and in 1920 that school merged with Baltimore to form what is today's state-wide University of Maryland. Football was played continuously through the name changes in College Park.

Snowbound

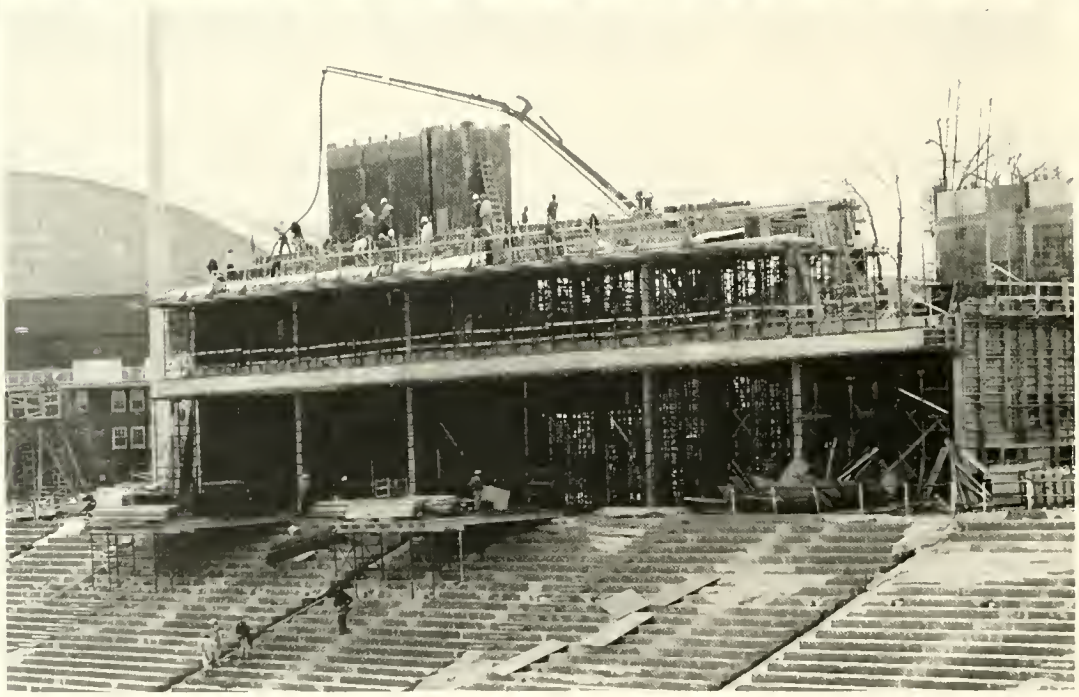
Byrd Stadium reconstruction was begun following the last home game of 1990, which occurred on a conveniently early Oct. 13 against Wake Forest. The old Byrd went out the same way it came in. Forty years earlier the Terps topped Navy, 35–21, in the inaugural game; against the Deacons Maryland prevailed, 41–13.

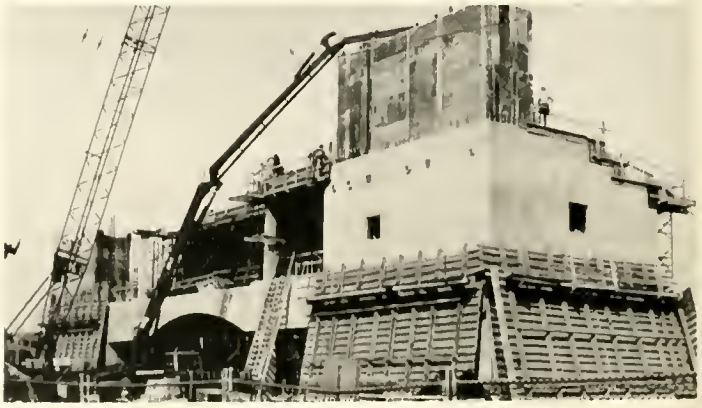
The old press box was a model of utility, and indeed, was a press box in the classic sense. It contained two floors, the first given over to a combination of media, scoreboard crews and special guests, the second occupied by print and electronic media. The top level or photo deck was born of necessity. There was no other place to put TV cameras or announcers but on the roof, along with still photographers and game film/video cameras.

Workers blew by the size of the old press box early in construction. Two tiers of the new press box are much larger than the old. Below can be seen the last remnants of the old Byrd Box.

The workers kept going up—92 feet in all above the stadium rim—to construct the Byrd Stadium Welcome Center. On the opposite page can be seen the structure, which is higher than the stadium from floor to rim. Also seen in this June photo are the new seats being installed, the repaired concrete, and some of the construction rubble left even at that late date.

Also opposite is the model of the completed Byrd project, with upper deck on the North Side, a football team house just beyond the far end zone, and behind that a huge indoor practice facility. Next up: completion of the reconstruction of the rest rooms and concession stands and construction of the team house, which will house the football staff and team, and all of its needs, under one roof.





TERRAPINS
MARYLAND

The Krivak Family: (Clockwise) Ed, John, Jeff, Joe, Jean.

Joe Krivak's philosophy on coaching, and indeed on life, is reflected in the way he moves from points A to B. He does not walk so much as strides out. There is no affectation. Purposefulness, yes, and directness, but no bull and excess glitter are in him. He is a unique combination of strength and truth, his humility underlining his credibility.

When Joe Krivak accepted the head coaching job at Maryland on December 10, 1986, his University was being scrutinized unlike any other. Maryland needed strength, the kind born of expertise and honesty. Maryland has gotten what it needed.

His expertise has produced a mini-draft list of quarterbacks for the NFL and a program whose academics improve yearly along with the recruitment of student-athletes. But most of all, Krivak has produced competitive football teams.

1991: Krivak began the year as one of nine NCAA Division I coaches to participate in a roundtable discussion on proposed reforms of intercollegiate athletics. In May, he hosted the Joe Krivak Charity Golf Tournament to benefit the Door in Baltimore City and the Maryland Athletic Capital Campaign. The Door is a non-profit organization that helps underprivileged inner city kids from Baltimore.

1990: With an offense severely depleted by graduation, including that of a three-year starter at quarterback, Maryland was pre-season second division fodder for the ACC. But Krivak quickly molded yet another future pro quarterback, Scott Zolak, into a thrower who helped eclipse three team passing standards and set two team records himself. The defense played aggressively and effectively against what has become the typical Maryland schedule — six bowl teams, six teams who were ranked when the Terps met them, and to spice the mix, the last four games were on the road. In the end Maryland had its first winning season in five years, its first bowl bid in five years, and victories over two of the ranked teams (including #8 Virginia). Maryland finished with a winning record in the ACC (only once in four years did a Krivak team finish below .500 in the league) and Krivak was given a new four-year contract at season's end.

1989: The Terps hit the road against a schedule ranked the 10th toughest by the NCAA in the pre-season. Five of the first seven games were away from College Park, against four top 20 teams. The strength of schedule never abated, but the Terps rose up in November to tie Penn State, the first time in 21 games the Nittany Lions had not beaten Maryland. Maryland had two shutouts in a season for the first time in almost a decade (Western Michigan, 23-0, North Carolina, 38-0). Individually, Quarterback Neil O'Donnell superseded every other Terp quarterback in history, save Boomer Esiason.

1988: No staff did a better job in the ACC than Krivak's. Picked to be a league caboose, the Terps played at home in their 10th game with but one league loss for the title. Against a schedule ranked third toughest in the nation by USA Today, Maryland won consecutive road games at Duke and Carolina and defeated ACC contender N.C. State.

1987: Krivak's first year was marked by yet another murderer's row of opponents, with Miami, Penn State, Syracuse, and West Virginia the out-of- league foes. Two wins in the first three games were followed by a wave of injuries, but it didn't slow the Terps down as they gained almost 4,000 yards of offense, each play gaining an average of 4.7 yards.

COACH "K"

Krivak's honesty is born of being a successful player at Syracuse in its late 1950s heydays, of being a high school coach for a decade in West Virginia, and of being assistant to some of coaching's brightest minds while at Syracuse, Navy, and Maryland. Krivak's assessments, whether it be on talent or fourth-and-one, are respected.

Krivak's time as assistant at Maryland produced two of his greatest competitive thrills. He was in the press box directing the Terp offense in the 42-20 victory over Miami in 1985 that was the greatest comeback in NCAA history (the Terps were down, 31-0, at the half). He also directed a 28-27 Sun Bowl victory over Tennessee that came after the Terps fell behind, 21-0.

In his tenure at Maryland, the Terrapins are 85-51-4. They won six ACC championships and traveled to seven bowl games. As a Navy assistant Krivak went to three bowls and he played in the 1956 Cotton Bowl while at Syracuse.

Krivak's staff is a reflection of himself. Five assistants are long term Maryland coaches with a long string of bowl appearances. Two others graduated from the school, and came back to work under Krivak.

Krivak was born in Central City, Pennsylvania, on March 20, 1935. His wife, Jean is a Weirton, West Virginia, native. They have three sons, two of whom became Terps. Ed, 27 received his degree in engineering from Maryland in 1987, while earning two letters as a pitcher on the base ball team. Jeff, 22, graduated from Maryland in May, and John, 25, earned four letters while playing on the University of Richmond baseball team.

George Foussekis

Assistant Head Coach Inside Linebackers

George Foussekis is the dean of Maryland assistant coaches, having first come to College Park in 1972. In the ensuing 19 years, he has been to 12 bowl games as a Terp assistant, and he has consistently developed some of the best linebackers in school history.

Foussekis began his coaching career at his alma mater, Virginia Tech, in 1969. He worked with the Hokies defensive line for two seasons. In 1971, he served as defensive coordinator at William & Mary, replacing Bobby Ross, a man who would later become his boss at Maryland. The next year he became part of the Jerry Claiborne era, and worked with the successful Terp head coach for 10 years.

When Claiborne moved to Kentucky, Foussekis stayed at Maryland to coach under Ross. He made a similar choice in 1987, when he elected to remain on Joe Krivak's Maryland staff.

His longevity is a direct result of his success. Maryland's inside linebacker corps is consistently at the heart of the Terps defense. Last year, Maryland's three top tacklers were inside linebackers. As a recruiter, Foussekis can number Terp standouts like Walter White, Lloyd Burruss, Eric Wilson and Steve Atkins—who all went on to play in the NFL—among his signees.

For his playing and coaching achievements, Foussekis was elected to the Virginia Tech Hall of Fame in 1989.

Paul Tortorella

Assistant Coach H-Backs, Tight Ends & Special Teams

With each season Paul Tortorella takes on more responsibility on the Maryland football staff. His Maryland coaching career began inauspiciously as a graduate assistant then as a volunteer assistant before he eventually joined the fulltime staff in 1989 as the tight ends and special teams coach. In 1990, he took on the H-Backs as well, and saw that position develop into the focus of Maryland's wide-open offensive attack.

Now in his seventh year of involvement with the program, Tortorella continues to serve the staff with distinction. Maryland's special teams, especially its kicking and punting corps, are among the best in the Atlantic Coast Conference. In 1990, the Terps' H-Backs combined for 81 receptions, including a school record and ACC leading 58 by Frank Wycheck.

Prior to coming to Maryland, he was defensive coordinator at Mt. Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh, Pa. for one season and was a student assistant coach at his alma mater, Slippery Rock University.

Dennis Murphy

Assistant Coach Defensive Line

Maryland's defensive line, unquestionably the most dominating aspect of what figures to be an outstanding Terps defense in 1991, under the domain of Dennis "Denny" Murphy.

Murphy is beginning his fourth year with responsibility for the entire defensive front, but is in his eighth year working with Maryland's defensive linemen, with four previous years of concentration with the guards in the Terps old defensive scheme.

An outstanding player at Notre Dame, Murphy played in the North-South Shrine All-Star game and earned a contract with the Los Angeles Rams. His post-graduate exploits, though, came not on the professional playing field, but in the air over Vietnam as a Navy Flight Officer. In five years as a naval aviator, Murphy was decorated five times.

Murphy's coaching experience includes stints as both an offensive and defensive coordinator. He has helped 10 teams reach bowl games during his career.

Rod Sharpless

Assistant Coach Wide Receivers

Rod Sharpless, like fellow staff member Jerry Eisaman, is on his second season as a Maryland assistant coach. Sharpless returned to Maryland as the Terps, wide receivers coach prior to the 1990 season.

Sharpless' roots run deep in the Maryland program. He was a starting linebacker for Maryland from 1972-74 and he received his degree from Maryland in 1975. His first college coaching position was at Maryland, as Jerry Claiborne's linebacker coach from 1977-81.

As the Terps receivers coach last year, Sharpless directed one of the most talent-laden positions on the team. Split end Barry Johnson was named All-Atlantic Coast Conference, while flanker Gene Thomas proved to be Maryland's game-breaking receiver, nabbing winning touchdown receptions on the last drive of two games. Two of Sharpless' charges—Johnson and Norris Hanes—signed professional free agent contracts with the Denver Broncos.

Sharpless is not unaccustomed to coaching quality athletes. At Kentucky, he coached Oliver Barnett, Donnie Gardner and John Shannon—now all NFL defensive linemen.

As a player, Sharpless was 12th on the team in tackles in 1974. Among his 45 stops that year were 23 unassisted tackles and 11 for minus yardage.

Rod and Linda recently celebrated the birth of their first child, Victoria Lynn, born May 11, 1991.

John Zernhelt

Assistant Coach Offensive Line

John Zernhelt is entering his fifth year as the offensive line coach at the University of Maryland, his alma mater.

He graduated from Maryland in 1977, after earning three letters as part of the Terps offensive line. In between his playing and coaching days at Maryland, Zernhelt was part of a National Championship program at Ferrum Junior College and enjoyed a successful five-year stint as the offensive line coach at East Carolina.

At ECU, which was ranked in the national top 20 in 1983, Zernhelt sent three of his linemen to the NFL and two to the USFL.

He revived that professional connection at Maryland last year, as standout linemen Clarence Jones (New York Giants) and O'Neil Glenn (New England Patriots) were drafted. Zernhelt also has coached a couple of Academic All-Americans at Maryland in linemen John Rugg and Ken Oberle.

Specifics: 37 (1-4-1954).

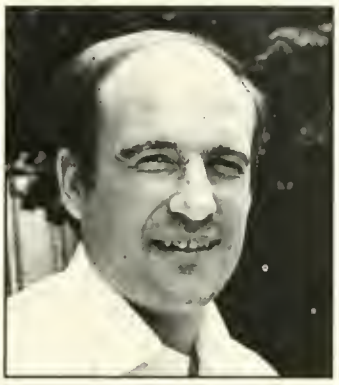
(football, wrestling, track and field), and at Greenbrier (Va.) Military Academy.

Kurt Van Valkenburgh



Assistant Coach Outside Linebackers

Kurt Van Valkenburgh joined the Maryland staff in 1986 after serving as defensive coordinator at Vanderbilt and secondary coach at Virginia. His players at Maryland are consistently among the most active on the Terps' defense—an attribute they no doubt copy from their coach.

Whether on the practice field or calling defensive signals from the press box during games, Van Valkenburgh is a study in constant motion. It is a coaching pace that has served him well in an 18-year coaching career.

Van Valkenburgh has spent the best portion of his career directing linebackers and secondaries, and has enjoyed outstanding success with each group. He coached Paul Lawlor, who led the nation in interceptions, while at Colgate. His Vanderbilt secondary set a school record for interceptions in a season and Vandy defensive back Leonard Coleman was a first round NFL draft pick.

Last season, Van Valkenburgh's star was Jack Bradford, who led the Atlantic Coast Conference in tackles for loss and was second in the league in sacks with 10.

Specifics: 42 (4-13-49).

Greg Williams

Assistant Coach Defensive Coordinator Defensive Backs

Calling the defensive signals for Maryland is Greg Williams, who begins his 10th season as the team's defensive backfield coach and his fifth season as its defensive coordinator.

The Terps have a long history of producing quality defensive backs, and Williams is the main reason. Among his former players are All-ACC picks Clarence Baldwin and the Covington brothers, Al and Keeta. More recently, Williams has tutored J.B. Brown, now a starter with the Miami Dolphins and Scott Rosen, a 1991 team captain.

Williams has been both an offensive and defensive coordinator during his coaching tenure, and at most stops along that career he has enjoyed championship success. He has been part of ACC Championships at two schools—at his alma mater, N.C. State, and three times at Maryland.

His coaching resume reads like a who's who of major college programs: N.C. State, Louisiana State, Texas Christian, among others. At Maryland, he has been a part of five bowl teams.

Specifics: 44 (10-20-46).

Education: B.S., NC State, 1969.

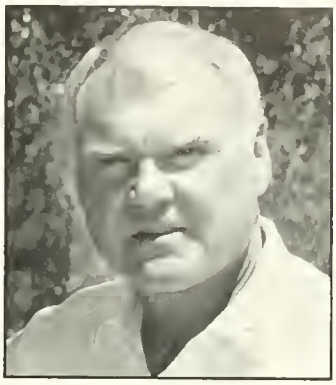
Jerry Eisaman



Assistant Coach Quarterbacks

The job of developing the next Maryland quarterback falls into the capable hands of Jerry Eisaman, who is entering his second season as Maryland's quarterback coach Eisaman is well suited for the task.

In his first year back at Maryland—he coached on Jerry Claiborne's staff from 1972 to 1981—Eisaman effectively guided the development of Scott Zolak from college reserve to starter. Under Eisaman's guiding hand, Zolak had unprecedented success, including throwing for more than 300 yards in his first two games as a starter and for more than 250 in his first five games.

With Zolak drafted into the NFL a third round pick by the New England Patriots, making him the fifth Terp quarterback now on a professional roster—
Eisaman now has his sights set on grooming the Maryland signal caller of the future.

During his first stint at Maryland, Eisaman helped direct Maryland to seven bowl appearances, including the 1976 Cotton Bowl. He was the Terps' quarterback coach then, too.

In 1982, he joined Claiborne's Kentucky staff as quarterback coach and was on the staff in 1983 and 1984 when the Wildcats enjoyed back-to-back bowl seasons. Prior to his first stop at Maryland, Eisaman was offensive coordinator at Cincinnati (1969-71) and backfield coach at Virginia Tech (1966-68).

Specifics: 54 (6-21-37).

Education: B.A. Education, University of Kentucky, 1961.

Personal: Attended Bethel Park High School in Bethel Park, Pa. He was an officer in the U.S. Army Infantry from 1962-64, serving as head coach of the First Cavalry Division football team in 1962 and as head coach of the Fort Knox Tankers in 1963. Eisaman is single.

Jeff Mann

Recruiting Coordinator Administrative Assistant

Jeff Mann is entering his third year as recruiting coordinator and administrative assistant for football. Before moving into athletic administration, Mann coached Maryland's tight ends and special teams.

Among his special teams standouts were Rick Badanjek and Keeta Covington, who led the Atlantic Coast Conference in punt returns in 1983 and 1984, respectively.

Mann also supervised the development of some of Maryland's most outstanding kickers. Jess Atkinson, who went on to play professionally for the Washington Redskins, was a Mann pupil, as was Maryland recordholder Dan Plocki, who in four years never missed a conversion (92 of 92).

A native of Baltimore, Mann has spent his entire athletic career in this metropolitan area. He coached at several area high schools before coming to Maryland.

Mann played his college football at William and Mary, leading the Tribe to a Southern Conference title and an appearance in the Tangerine Bowl.

MEDICAL STAFF

Dr. Stan Lavine

Team Physician

Dr. Lavine's role at Maryland has been to make the Terrapins go, whether as an undergraduate standout in football, or as the team physician for almost three decades.

A native of Pittsburgh where he attended Schenley High School, Dr. Lavine matriculated at Maryland to prepare for his medical career, and played initially for the immortal Clark Shaughnesy, one of football's great innovators. By the time of his 1950 graduation, he had led Maryland under Head Coach Jim Tatum to a 9-1 record and a 20-7 win over Missouri in the Gator Bowl as the team's quarterback. After graduating from the University's Medical School, he interned in hospitals in Philadelphia and Cleveland, served two years in the Air Force, and then began his orthopedic medical practice and work with Maryland's athletic teams.

Dr. Lavine attends all football games, home basketball games and some road games, and he is on call at all times for the athletes on the University's 23 sports teams. His professional reputation is national in scope, and many prominent athletes have sought his treatment. He was team physician for the Washington Redskins (1975-1985), and was there for two Super Bowls. He was the team physician for the Washington Bullets when they won the NBA Championship.

Working with, and under supervision of Dr. Lavine, is Dr. Dave Linehan, another highly regarded orthopedic surgeon. He worked at the Student Health Center before deciding to go into orthopedic surgery. He has been associated with the University's athletic teams since 1973.

Supporting Lavine and trainer J.J. Bush on a day-to-day basis are Drs. Sacred Bodison and Steve Fahey of the University's Student Health Center. Dr. Bodison is Clinical Director and Coordinator of Sports Medicine. She, along with Dr. Fahey, take care of the daily medical problems that might occur in all sports. Diagnosis and treatments are overseen at the training rooms and at the Student Health Center. If necessary, they refer patients to specialists through head trainer Bush.

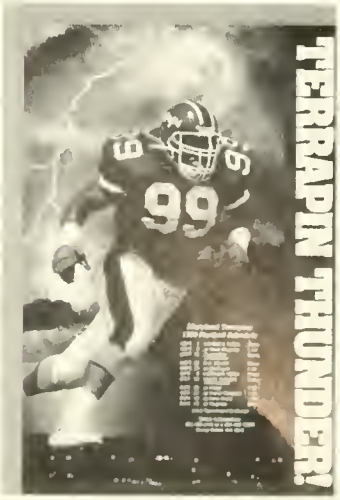
Is on the Sporting News pre-season checklist for defensive linemen . . . Listed third among senior defensive linemen by Lindy's Football Annual . . . Has had the ball snapped in his face over 1,000 times at Maryland, and the offense has paid each time . . . Big, strong (combined bench press and squat of 1100 pounds), fast (5.1 40), smart, has 30" vertical jump . . . First team All-ACC in the Football News, pre-season first team by ACSWA writers in 1990.

1990: The force in the line for Maryland . . . Finished the regular season with a six tackle day at Virginia Nov. 17, and he had six tackles at Penn State Nov. 10, including four solos . . . Had a big month of October, registering season high 12 tackles Oct. 27 at North Carolina (five solos, two tackles for a loss, one move of the Heel QB, and a forced fumble); and the week before at Duke he had six initial hits among 11 tackles, two sacks, a tackle for a loss, and a move of the Devil QB. Webster, in the words of Coach Krivak, "turned it up a notch" against Duke to help preserve the victory . . . Against Michigan Sept. 29, Webster was a reason the Terp defense never did give-up control of the line of scrimmage . . . Finished the day with six tackles (four first hits), caused a fumble and tipped a pass . . . The right tackle for Michigan, playing opposite Webster, was All-America Greg Skrepenak (6–6, 322) . . . The strongest Terp in the weight room, his work ethic paid off . . . He led the Terp down linemen in tackles and for much of the year just about everyone else on the roster.



1989: He earned second team All-Atlantic Coast Conference recognition despite not playing the final league game against Virginia . . . He broke his foot on the sixth play of the Penn State game the same play on which Rick Fleece broke his hand and missed the rest of the season . . . . . Against North Carolina, he graded out at a season-high 95 percent, with six unassisted tackles and three assists . . . He also had nine tackles (four unassisted) with two quarterback hurries against Duke . . . He totaled seven tackles against Western Michigan and six against North Carolina State, grading out at 83 percent in both of those games . . . Against West Virginia, he blocked a field goal attempt on the last play of the half to secure the Terps' first half shutout . . . For the season, he was the team's ninth-leading tackler with 54 stops, 30 unassisted . . . He also had three tackles for loss (minus 13 yards), two pass deflections and one sack.

1988: As the year wore on, Webster wore down opponents. Used little through the first six games (he had a total of five tackles), Webster was used more at Duke where he had four tackles (3-1), including a sack . . . At North Carolina, he announced his presence as the most talented young Terp defender by making nine tackles (six initial hits), including one tackle for no gain, one for a loss, and one sack . . . In the mud at Penn State, Webster had 10 tackles (a career high of seven initial hits), two for a loss and one pass break-up . . . In the Clemson game which was a battle for first in the ACC, Webster had seven tackles (4-3) . . . He finished the year with a career high 11 tackles at Virginia<Msix initial hits, one tackle for a loss. In the four games he was used fulltime, Webster had 37 tackles (23 initial hits), and five tackles behind the line of scrimmage. His limited time did not prevent him from tying for the team lead in tackles for a loss (five).

With strength and speed, Webster bursts into the opponents' backfield in search of an enemy ball carrier.

Yearly Totals: 31 initial hits, 18 assists, two sacks, five tackles for losses, one pass deflected.

Dan DeArmas

At Maryland: One of the great kickers in Terp history, one of the best in the nation . . . Will be joined on Terp roster by brother Dave, a first team All-USA Today placekicker from DeMatha High School in Hyattsville, MD.

1990: DeArmas's big moments with his left foot in 1990 came with 11 seconds to go in the N.C. State game when he made a 25 yard field goal to net a 13–12 victory; and with 50 seconds left at Duke his 20 yard FG brought a 23–20 victory . . . Big moment as ballcarrier came in the Virginia upset when on a fourth and two from his own 41 DeArmas rambled 13 yards for a key first down . . . He got the last yard by lowering his shoulder into the tackler; he did not go near the sideline . . . Part of the Terp ACC record string of 165 consecutive successful extra point attempts, having nailed 47 straight career PATs (The NCAA record is 262, set by Syracuse between 1978 and 1989.) . . . Doubling up did not hurt his punting . . . He improved his per punt average by three yards, and had 10 punts of 50 yards or more . . . A lefty, his high trajectory and natural reverse spin put the returner in jeopardy . . . Of 57 punts, only 33 were returned for a 6.5 avg., making his net average 37.9.

1988: In 11 games, he averaged 36.9 yards/punt . . . Had no punts blocked in his first year of kicking for Maryland . . . Seven times he landed punts inside the opponents 20-yard line . . . His longest, a 55-yarder, came in the first game of the season against Louisville.

Named All-City, All-Area, and All-County as a junior and senior . . . His team won the district, regional and sectional championships with an 8-4 record in 1987 . . . His senior year, he had a 42-yard average with a 4.5 second hang time . . . His longest punt was a 72 yards and best hang time was 5.1 seconds.

HOME GAMES IN CAPS

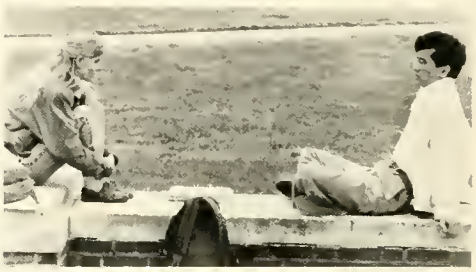
The turtle unmasked: as an ambassador of good will, J.T. Codd played the part of "Mr T" throughout the 1991 Maryland Football Media Guide.

Maryland, a flagship University

From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college, and its designation soon after as one of America's original land grant institutions, to its officially mandated status in 1988 as the "flagship" institution of the state's 11-school system, the University of Maryland at College Park has emerged as one of the nation's foremost public institutions of higher education.

In such disciplines as engineering, computer sciences, physics, economics and mathematics, College Park has attracted national and international recognition, placing it among the best of its peers. In the social sciences and humanities, in business and the arts as well, the university has been widely acclaimed for the quality of its faculty and programs.

The 11th largest university in the United States, College Park undergraduate enrollment last year was 24,473. Its students pursue 122 majors for undergraduates and 88 programs for graduate students. Courses are taught by more than 2,000 full-time faculty, many of whom are internationally known scholars and researchers.



Maryland, a quality choice

More than a dozen academic programs at College Park are ranked among the ten best at public universities in the U.S. by the National Academy of Sciences and other prestigious professional organizations.

Current contract and grant funding has soared to more than $100 million annually, triple the amount of just a decade ago.

According to a Chronicle of Higher Education report, College Park faculty have been awarded ten 1990–1991 Fulbright Scholarships. Maryland is one of only five public universities to win ten or more Fulbrights.

The 1990–1991 freshman class was the brightest in school history, with an average SAT score for all students of 1087.

The University is a national model for diversity. Over 32% of the fall freshman class are minorities—15% African American, 12.8% Asian, and 4.8% Hispanic/other minorities.

The College of Business was recognized in the Spring of 1991 by U.S. News and World Report as having one of the top 25 Graduate business schools in the nation. The College of Engineering had previously won the honor.

The College of Journalism is acknowledged by the Gannett Center as one of the top 11 exemplary journalism schools in the country, and its Public Relations Program is ranked as the nation's best, according to a study by Marquette University.

College Park is one of only 30 universities designated by the Carnegie Foundation as a Research-1 institution. It is the only public university in Maryland or the National Capital region with a membership in the Association of American Universities.

When the new National Archives II—the largest and most advanced archives research facility in the world—opens on the College Park campus in 1993, it will house the nation's most comprehensive set of documents on American public life. The facility will draw as many as 50,000 scholars and researchers each year to College Park.

In a quality location

Nine miles from Washington, D.C., College Park is at the doorstep of some of the country's most important landmarks and institutions—from the United States Senate and the Smithsonian to the Library of Congress and the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Just a short drive away is Baltimore, a city renowned for its art, architecture, the National Aquarium and colorful Inner Harbor.

College Park's cosmopolitan setting attracts students from every state and more than 100 countries. The campus comprises more than 200 Georgian-style buildings—including a model computer science center, a library system housing over 3.6 million volumes and microfilm units, residence halls, fraternities and sororities—on nearly 1,600 acres. Outside of the classroom College Park students participate in more than 275 clubs and organizations.

In a quality conference

A charter member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Maryland's athletic roots are in the old Southern Intercollegiate Conference that encompassed schools from the Deep South north to Maryland.

After that conference split-up in 1932, Maryland joined with traditional Mid-Atlantic and Near South rivals to form the Southern Conference. In 1953, eight schools left the league to form the Atlantic Coast Conference. Maryland, Clemson, Duke, North Carolina, N.C. State, Virginia and Wake Forest are the charter member schools still competing. Georgia Tech joined the conference in the 1970s; Florida State begins fulltime competition in the 1991–1992 school year.

Maryland has won more league championships than any school.

University President

William E. Kirwan

After more than 25 years of service as a professor and administrator at the University of Maryland at College Park, Dr. William E. Kirwan was appointed president on February 1, 1989. He had served as acting president of the university since August 1, 1988, when the resignation of President John B. Slaughter became effective.

Under Dr. Kirwan's leadership, the University of Maryland at College Park recently developed a $150 million, five-year plan to enhance the university, including a program to strengthen undergraduate education.

Dr. Kirwan joined the university in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose steadily through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-1972), professor (1972-present), and chair of the Department of Mathematics (1977-1981).

In 1981, he was appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs, College Park's chief academic post. From August to November 1982, Dr. Kirwan served as acting chancellor, returning to his position as vice chancellor when Dr. Slaughter was appointed chancellor of College Park. As vice chancellor, Dr. Kirwan raised admission standards, increased the number of merit scholarships and graduate fellowships, and established an academic planning process.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of numerous honorary and professional societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, the American Mathematical Society, and the Mathematical Association of America. He is the co-editor of the book Advances in Complex Analysis, and the author of many published articles on mathematical research. He served as editor of the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society from 1977 to 1985. Currently, he chairs the Mathematical Sciences in the Year 2000 Committee, a task force created by the National Research Council to improve mathematics education at the nation's colleges and universities during the next decade.

Dr. Donald N. Langenberg is the chancellor.

Born in Louisville, Kentucky on April 14, 1938, Dr. Kirwan received a bachelor's degree in mathematics from the University of Kentucky in 1960. He holds master's (1962) and Ph.D. (1964) degrees in mathematics from Rutgers University.

Dr. Kirwan and his wife, Patricia, have a son who received his bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from College Park and a daughter who currently is a student at the university.

Athletic Director

Andy Geiger, whose tenure as Athletic Director at Stanford University elevated him to the top rank of athletic administrators, was named to direct the athletic program at Maryland by College Park President William E. Kirwan on Sept. 7, 1990.

Since Geiger's first day on the job (Oct. 1) he has elevated the image of Maryland athletics, while providing structure and planning for the 1990s and beyond.

Of immediate impact was his being instrumental in Maryland going to its first football bowl game in five years (the Independence Bowl); rewarding Coach Joe Krivak for his winning 1990 season with a four-year contract; and establishing across the board equilibrium in the 23 sport program in the face of financial challenges.

Competitive highlights included Geiger's presence at Maryland's bids for its own NCAA titles: Men's and women's lacrosse each made the NCAA's Final Four. Maryland won its first ever Atlantic Coast Conference Volleyball Championship, to add to the longest list of ACC titles won of any school.

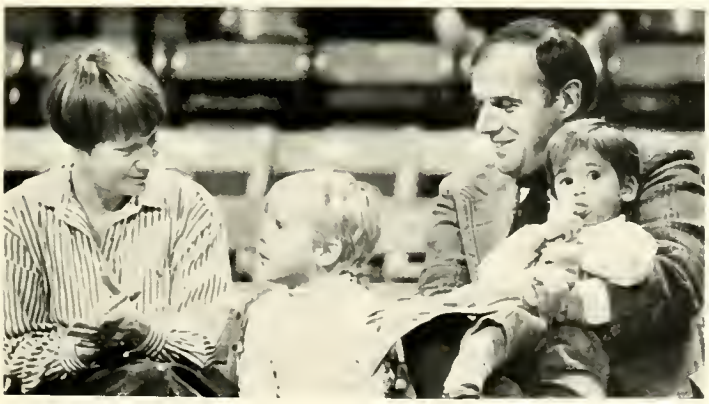
Geiger is guiding the $68 million Maryland Partnership, a matching gift program with the State of Maryland, that is seeing its first fruits with the $15 million refurbishment of Byrd Stadium over the past year, and the building of a new press box. He is establishing management procedures to handle the complexities of a large, Division I athletic program, needed in a time of unparalleled scrutiny of college athletics.

Geiger's academic philosophy, built-up over 27 years as an administrator (that included athletic directorships at Brown, Pennsylvania and Stanford) is being established at Maryland. The Cardinal was as successful as any NCAA program in winning NCAA championships (27) during his tenure. His 11 year stewardship included a realignment of the department, and a highly successful restructuring of Stanford's ability to attract gift-giving. The obvious onfield success was not at the expense of academics.

He was named Athletic Director at Brown in 1972, and he moved to another Ivy League school, Pennsylvania, in 1975. During his final year there (1978-79), Pennsylvania became the last Ivy school to qualify for the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. While at Penn he was named to the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee, and as a member he helped direct the enormous explosion of the NCAA Tournament in the 1980s.

Geiger, 51, is a 1961 graduate of Syracuse where he was an oarsman. He competed in the 1959 Pan-American Games as a member of the U.S. crew team, and he served as manager of the U.S. Pan-Am squad in 1971. He was freshman crew coach at Dartmouth immediately after graduation, and later served as secretary of the U.S. Olympic Rowing Committee. He served as Assistant Athletic Director at his alma mater from 1964 to 1970.

Geiger had been married to the former Eleanor Rollings for 28 years. They have two children, Phillip and Gregory.



The Geigers: Eleanor, Phillip, Andy, and Gregory.

Academic Support Unit

The creation of the Academic Support Unit at Maryland puts the University's commitment to the student-athlete front and center. It is important to the University that each student-athlete grow academically and graduate, and to that end Academic Support has as large a presence as any sport program in the athletic department.

Dr. Gerald Gurney, Associate Athletic Director for Academic Support, oversees a program of intensive assessment, skill development and counseling that is offered to each student-athlete. Academic Support offers a comprehensive program for personal and academic development that includes the following:

- Personal academic career assessment
- Tutoring
- Supervised study
- Learning skill programs
- Academic monitoring
- Computer training and usage
- Career mentorship
- Summer internships
- Career awareness programs and job hunting

Dr. Gurney joined Maryland in 1987 after tenures at Southern Methodist and Iowa State, institutions which were lauded for their nationally recognized academic support programs. Dr. Gurney earned his Ph.D. in higher education administration from Iowa State in 1980. He holds a master's degree in counseling and student personnel work, and a bachelor of science in English education, both from Ohio State University.

Working with him is a distinguished staff that includes:

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston coordinates the development services arm of the Unit, organizing the student-athlete orientation, drug education and career programs. A licensed clinical psychologist, Dr. Adams-Gaston also coordinates the various counseling programs offered. She received her Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Iowa State in 1983.

Milvia Sadler, a counselor in the Academic Support Unit, coordinates student-athlete study sessions, tutoring schedules and the bookroom. Sadler has her master's in counselor education from Penn State and a bachelor of arts in psychology from North Carolina.

In general, the resources of the University of Maryland's Academic Support Unit are second to none among the nation's university athletic departments.

Dr. Gerry Gurney leads an academic support unit that is at once a part of athletics, and the campus academic community.

Milvia Sadler clears the way for extra learning opportunities.

Preparing an athlete to play a particular sport is the mission of the Strength and Conditioning program at Maryland. Proper training leads to more confidence on the athlete's part, and translates into a competitive, ready Terrapin.

Strength and Conditioning is directed by Frank Costello, an extraordinary competitor and coach. As a Terrapin undergraduate, he was the third ranked high jumper in the world. He was an NCAA Champion and four-time All-America. As a coach he led Maryland to both the IC4A Indoor and Outdoor team titles and was NCAA District Coach of the Year. Maryland's Strength and Conditioning Coordinator since 1981, Costello coaches the whole athlete. He is one of the leading authorities on the dangers of drug abuse in his profession, and is a frequent guest on network television, explaining the dangers of taking shortcuts to enhance the body.

Costello and Assistants Dwight Galt, Mike Vasalani, and Rich Nelson begin the road to physically preparing an athlete to play their sport by conferring with the sport's coach, and then testing and evaluating the individual. Weight training, speed training, flexibility training—all could be part of a balanced prescription to excel, depending on the sport.

Galt is on his second stint as part of the Maryland strength staff. He was an assistant strength coach in 1984 and 1985 under Costello, and rejoined the staff just prior to the start of the 1989 football season. Both he and Nelson, a starting offensive lineman for the Terps in 1987 and 1988, have their undergraduate degrees from Maryland. Galt also has a master's degree in exercise physiology and Nelson currently is working toward his master's. Vasalani is in his third year on the staff, after graduating from Slippery Rock in 1987. While at Slippery Rock, he was the National Collegiate Powerlifting Champion.

Maryland's commitment to strength and conditioning grows with the explosion of interest among athletes and coaches. Men's and women's sports, team and individual competition—every sport is involved. Two weight rooms now exist, with the facility expansion and refurbishment under The Maryland Partnership promising even better facilities in the future.

Strength and Conditioning Staff: Mike Vasalani, Rich Nelson, Frank Costello, Dwight Galt. Strength and conditioning is an important part of the total athlete.

MD4th Qtr	13:59	Thomas 51 yard pass from Zolak, Dan DeArmas PAT

Newcomers Scott Zolak, Frank Wycheck and Gene Thomas sparked the victory. First time starter at quarterback Zolak set a school record with 28 completions. The newly created position of H-Back gave Wycheck his first start, and he set the school record for completions in a game (14). On the ground, A-Back Troy Jackson celebrated his new starting role with 78 yards on 22 carries. All the heroics on a perfect day (sunny, wind at 5 mph, 82 degrees, 65 percent humidtiy) did not dust off the Hokies, however, as the game was tied, 13–13, as Maryland got the ball with 1:14 to go. Zolak on the second play of the drive threw a dart on a crossing pattern to Wide Receiver Thomas, who got to handle the ball for the first time by running 51 yards for the winning score. ACC Players of the Week were Zolak (Offensive Back), Guard Ken Oberle (Offensive Lineman), and Frank Wycheck (Rookie).

A defensive struggle on a 70 degree, partly cloudy day had the same conclusion as Maryland's first game. The Terps were up, 7–0, at the half, but West Virginia rallied for a 10–7 lead with 4:21 left in the game. Maryland got the ball at its 20, and bulldozed up-field in small increments before lightning struck again. On the drive's ninth play, Quarterback Scott Zolak fired across the middle to Gene Thomas who outraced the WVU secondary 59 yards to the end zone. It was the second time Thomas touched a ball at Maryland, and it was his second game-winning touchdown play. ACC Players of the Week were Quarterback Scott Zolak (Offensive Back), Guard O'Neil Glenn (Offensive Lineman), and Barry Johnson (Receiver of the Week).

Maryland's rocket start to the season was slowed by Clemson, who survived the Terp big play capability to rally for the victory in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. It was the big play of Clemson that did in Maryland: a 53 yard field goal; a 98 yard TD return on a kickoff; a safety; and three interceptions that denied Maryland the end zone. In 80 degree temperatures that featured low humidity and sunny skies, Maryland did lead all the way, until halfway through the final period when the Tigers went up by a point. The day began with Terp Wide Receiver Gene Thomas touching the ball for the third time and a third TD resulting (43 yard TD pass from Quarterback Scott Zolak). The afternoon was spent trying to outleg a Tiger in pursuit; in the end, the Terrapin was caught. The ACC Player of the Week for Maryland was Barry Johnson (Receiver).

Maryland returned to its successful scenario of tough defense and the big play to edge N.C. State. On a 66 degree day that featured sun, heavy humidity, and an 8 mph breeze to move along the wet, Mike Thomas and Dan DeArmas proved the big play stars. Safety Thomas recovered a Wolfpack fumble with 1:22 to play in the game at Maryland's 40. The visitors had the game won (they had the ball first and 10 with 1:27 left to play at their 45); the only way to lose was to fumble, and the Pack did. Quarterback Scott Zolak then threw for key completions to Barry Johnson (20 yards on a first and 15) and Gene Thomas (28 yards to State's 12). Three plays later with 11 seconds left, DeArmas kicked a 25 yard field goal for the victory. ACC Players of the Week were Frank Wycheck (Rookie for his 12 catch day, a total exceeded in school history by only his 14 catches against VPI) and Greg Hines (Defensive Back).

Maryland's trip to the Great Lakes region resulted in a superior effort by the Terps, and at the same time a one-sided 45–17 loss. The visitors to Ann Arbor on a cloudy, 64 degree day, outgained their hosts, were down by a slim 21–17 well into the second half, and stuffed the nation's number one rusher who had been averaging 280 yards an outing. But miscues made it easy for the Wolverines to pull away in the last 20 minutes when they scored four TDs. Quarterback Scott Zolak set a school record of 29 completions, and the team set a school standard with 38 completions in all. Nose Guard Rick Fleece was selected ACC Player of the Week (Defensive Lineman).

Following college football's most rugged September schedule, Coach Krivak opened his pop bottle to start October and found little fizz against Georgia Tech. The national-champions-to-be cruised in what was thought to be a toss-up encounter before kickoff on a sunny 75 degree, windy (10-15 mph) day. Dan DeArmas's 28 yard field goal to start the second period brought Maryland within 10-3, and prevented the shutout. Barry Johnson, who caught five passes for 82 yards, was the statistical hero on offense. Scott Whittier led Maryland in tackles made.

Maryland rushed for 280 yards on a hot (80 degrees), humid day, the most by a the Terps in a game since 1984, and a 41–13 victory resulted. Smashing barriers was Troy Jackson, who rushed for 152 yards on 27 attempts, but he had plenty of help as Darren Colvin, Andre Vaughn and Mark Mason all carried the ball effectively. Jackson's total was the most yards by a Maryland back since Alvin Blount ran for 186 yards vs. Virginia in 1985. Maryland pulled away to a 28–6 halftime lead on rushing TDs by Colvin (2), Jackson, and Scott Zolak. Michael Hollis was selected an ACC Player of the Week (Defensive Backs). He had two interceptions, recovered a fumble at his goal line in the second half after Wake rallied to within 28–13, forced yet another fumble, and deflected a pass on defense.

Dan DeArmas's left foot won another game. He hit a 20 yard field goal with 50 seconds left to give Maryland a 23-20 victory and thoughts of a bowl with a 5-3 record. On a sunny, clear, 62 degree day, Scott Zolak had an extraordinary day throwing the ball, and Troy Jackson continued to grind out tough ground yardage. Maryland took the lead at halftime at 14-3, using a Zolak to Barry Johnson 38 yard TD pass and a 19 yard reverse by Gene Thomas to control the game. But the Devils came back to tie the game twice before DeArmas hit his game winner. In all, he had three field goals on the afternoon. ACC Players of the Week were Johnson (Receiver), Zolak (Offensive Back), and Jack Bradford (Defensive Back). Bradford had the best day of the year for a defender. An end, he had 12 tackles, four sacks, a fumble recovery and a hurry of the free-throwing Duke QB.

Maryland ignored Carolina's first half ball control (18:39 to 11:21), and its general domination of the statistics, to lead 10–9 after 30 minutes. But in the second half UNC was not to be ignored, and Maryland was blitzed for 25 unanswered points. The Terp defense starred in the first half, forcing Carolina to settle for three field goals. Chief among the Terp defenders were Jack Bradford, Larry Webster, and Rick Fleece, who combined for four tackles for losses, a forced fumble, and three sacks on the day.

Maryland did not survive Penn State's gambling and the resulting big plays in a 24–10 loss under dark, cold (45 degrees), rainy skies. A 74 yard interception return gave Penn State a 7–0 lead in the first period, but Maryland rallied to tie the game at the half, 10–10. Penn State refused to accept the inevitability of giving the ball up in a fourth and 21 situation at the Terp 30, and in a successful gamble threw for a TD pass. That play produced the winning points and change in the momentum. Until that point the Terps had a clear-cut advantage in time of possession (16:29 to 13:31) and in the team statistics.

If a season rested on a single game, this was the game for Maryland. At 5–5, Maryland needed the victory for its first winning season in five years, and for bowl consideration. Its 35–30 victory over the number eight ranked and Sugar Bowl bound Cavaliers put the imprimatur of victory on 1990. Quarterback Scott Zolak (Offensive Back), Guard O'Neil Glenn (Offensive Lineman) and Cornerback Michael Hollis (Defensive Back) all won ACC Player of the Week honors for their parts in the upset that took place on a sunny, 54 degree day. Making Maryland's honor roll was Mark Mason, who took the game over when starting A-Back Troy Jackson was hurt. Mason hurried for a 59 yard score to tie the score in the third period (Maryland trailed 21–7 at the half), and his eight yard TD in the final quarter accounted for the winning points. Big plays abounded, but none bigger than a 72 yard toss into a stiff wind from Zolak to Split End Marcus Badgett that set-up Mason's winning score.

Although Maryland generated the statistical advantages, it was the Terps who needed to rally from being down, 31–20, with 13:52 to go to tie the game. The arm of Scott Zolak produced 28 yard (to Mark Mason) and 15 yard (to Barry Johnson on fourth down and 12 at La Tech's 15 yard line) TD strikes, the latter coming with 52 seconds remaining. With the game in hand if it could hold the Techsters out of field goal range, Maryland failed to stop them and with no time remaining a field goal was kicked from 29 yards. High points for Maryland were Troy Jackson's three TDs, the running of Mason, and the pass catching of Johnson.

Ray Poppleman was a mainstay in the Terp backfield for three seasons (1930, 1931, 1932). His running skills are remembered even today; 193 yards gained against VPI in 1931 is the 10th best effort in the record books.

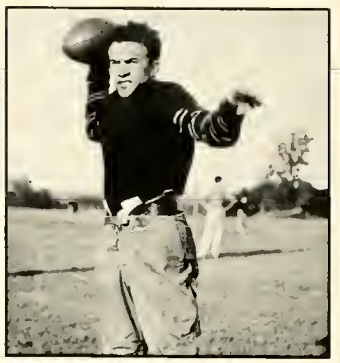
Ray Poppelman



Shorty Chalmers

The Athletic Hall of Fame was founded in 1982 by the M Club Foundation as a joint project of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the M Club. The first committee was organized by then Athletic Director Dick Dull and consisted of outstanding Terrapin athletes and coaches Jack Faber (Class of 1926), Tom Fields (Class of 1942), Al Heagy (Class of 1930), Jim Kehoe (Class of 1940) and Jack Scarbath (Class of 1952). Arthur L. Kramer (Class of 1942), a letterwinner in tennis, was particularly important in the founding of the Hall of Fame.

Among the qualifications for nominees are being out of school at least 10 years, having earned a minimum of one varsity letter, and if not an undergraduate athlete, being a Department of Intercollegiate Athletics staff member for at least 15 years. Nominees will be judged on personal conduct in life and their contributions to the high ideals of intercollegiate athletics.

Maryland made it three championships in a row and six in 12 years, by finishing unbeaten in ACC play. For the fourth straight year and the 11th time in 13 seasons, the Terps took part in post-season play, knocking off Syracuse in the Cherry Bowl, 35-18. Maryland extended its ACC game win streak to 17, with a 33-21 title clinching victory over Virginia on the season's final weekend. A pair of offensive tackles, J.D. Maarleveld of Maryland and Jim Dombrowski of Virginia were tabbed as consensus All-Americans.

The first capacity crowd in Gator Bowl history — attendance was 16,666 that day — witnessed one of the greatest games in the storied history of the bowl. A young Maryland team, underdog to an experienced Georgia squad, got up by 13 points in the fourth quarter and eventually settled for the 20-all tie. Lou Gambino was a one-man wrecking crew for the Terrapins, scoring the only touchdown of the first half on a 35-yard run In the second half, after a Georgia score, Gambino scored on a 1-yard run and on a 24-yard pass from John Baroni. A series of special teams miscues — namely a short kickoff and mishandled punt — set up Georgia's comeback. Despite the tie, there was no question as to the game's most valuable player. Gambino won the Burkhalter Award, signifying the game's outstanding performer.

In a game historians even today call the biggest win in Maryland football history, Jim Tatum's Terrapins upset the nation's No. 1 ranked Tennessee Volunteers of Gen. Bob Neyland. Buoyed by the running of All-American fullback Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski (153 yards on 28 carries) and All-American quarterback Jack Scarbath, the No 3 ranked Terps scored three TDs before the Vols got one in the first half for a 21-6 lead. They put the game out of reach in the third quarter with a 46-yard interception return TD by Ed Fullerton for a 28-6 margin lead. The Terrapin defense was brilliant all afternoon.

The Terrapins took another undefeated (10-0) record and the nation's No. 1 ranking in their second Orange Bowl visit in three years, and again played Oklahoma. The Sooners, completely unawed by the Terps National Championship team, staged a second quarter land rush to score the only score on a 25-yard sprint by team captain and halfback Larry Grigg. The Terrapins suffered a major setback when All-American Bernie Faloney could not start because of severe ankle injury. He entered the game in the 3rd quarter for five plays, but was unable to continue.

Bob Avellini: he quarterbacked the Terps to their first outright ACC title in 1974, and to a final ranking of 13 in both AP and UPI polls.

Maryland Radio Network

The JP Sports/Maryland Radio Network will once again bring Terrapin fans the most comprehensive coverage of Maryland Football with a 18 station network.

The flagship of the network is Baltimore's top news/talk station, Radio 11 WBAL. WBAL has been the Baltimore voice of the Terps since 1984 and is serving as the Terps flagship station for the first time. WBAL will feed stations in three states and the District of Columbia all the action this fall.

The new Terp voice in Washington is WRC-AM 980. WRC, a talk radio station, is pursuing more high visibility programming and Maryland Athletics is a valuable addition. Talk Radio is now Terp Radio, too.

For the 13th consecutive season, the popular Johnny Holliday will serve as the "voice of the Terrapins." Holliday is an experienced and versatile play-by-play man who is familiar to area sports fans.

He can be frequently seen on the Home Team Sports Cable Television Network, hosting various programs and announcing sporting events.

Despite his busy schedule, Holliday still finds time to participate in a variety of community activities, including speaking engagements and dinner theatre performances.

A newcomer to the booth will be Azizuddin Abdur-Ra'oof. Ziz will serve as expert analyst for the first time this season. He is familiar to Terp fans as a standout receiver from 1984-87. Ziz currently holds Maryland career records for most receptions and most yards receiving. He will bring a distinctive Maryland flavor to the broadcasts.

Ziz currently works on campus as the Director of Marketing and Membership Development in the Office of Alumni Relations.
